With COVID-19 cases on the rise and many families getting together or traveling for the holidays, we are incredibly concerned about patients that could have had a direct exposure to COVID-19 and/or symptoms coming into our office. To protect everyone in our office, we have been and will continue to ask COVID screening questions the day prior to your appointment and at the time of your appointment. As you know, due to the nature of our dental procedures, we cannot maintain social distancing and patients are not wearing a mask during treatment. Even if patients are vaccinated our guidelines differ from a normal medical facility. For this reason, it is even more important that all our patients are truthful about any COVID-19 exposures and/or symptoms or any recent travel. We are more than willing to reschedule your appointment with no cancelation fees to a later date. We understand that it may be inconvenient to have to reschedule or cancel at the last minute however, our goal is to keep our dental family safe. Therefore, if any patient is not forthcoming about a possible exposure or positive diagnosis, it is with a heavy heart we reserve the right to terminate the patient-dentist relationship. We hope you understand our position and that everyone's overall health is our main concern.
